The Franco-Prussian War.

All the German Forces to be Concentrated on Paris.

Reports that the Prussian Forces Have Withdrawn from Montmedy And Mezieres.

A Great Battle Believed to be Imminent Between the Armies South of Paris.

The Black Sea Controversy.

Gortschakoff Sends a Conciliatory Reply to England.

Contradictory Reports as to the Feeling in Austria and Turkey.

THE FRANCO-PRUSSIAN WAR.

A special correspondent of the New York Tribune, at Geneva, Switzerland, on Tuesday, the 22d, forwards from Switzerland over that day's dispatches from Versailles, and writes: Prussian affairs have been in order for the Loire and starve the Metropolis into submission during the winter. All the available forces of the Empire are being concentrated on Paris. The Investing Army is to be covered on the south by a force of 100,000 men, to be collected at Montpellier, during the winter.

New York, Nov. 24.—The World's London correspondent, writing on the 23d, says: "The Times, of the morning's issue, has a letter from Versailles, dated the 21st, which says that the Germans abandoned Montmedy on the 19th, and Mezieres on the 20th. The Crown Prince of Prussia, with Frederick Charles, is now at Rheims, and the Duke of Mecklenburg is on the west, and Steinmetz on the north.

A GREAT BATTLE IMMINENT.

New York, Nov. 24.—The World's London correspondent says a Tours despatch declares that the Army of the Loire is now 200,000 strong, and that it is in front of Fontainebleau, in front of Paris. Many Versailles men, who came out of Paris last week, have returned to that body, which, according to them, is in good condition. The Germans are massing on the south of Paris, and a great battle is imminent. The number of the people now in Paris is variously estimated at from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000. Provisions are coming in from all parts of France, and the Paris markets are well supplied. Fuel is scarce, and the price is high. THE BLACK SEA CONTROVERSY.

New York, Nov. 24.—The World's London correspondent says: "Mr. Gladstone's reply to Prince Gortschakoff's dispatch is considered satisfactory. It is believed that the Russian Chancellor will withdraw his demand for a conference. The Russian Minister at Berlin has been instructed to ask the Czar to withdraw his demand for a conference. The Russian Minister at Berlin has been instructed to ask the Czar to withdraw his demand for a conference.

THE SIEGE OF LUTZEN.

New York, Nov. 24.—A Berlin telegram, dated Versailles, 3d, reports a skirmish between the Germans and the French at Lutzen. The latter were driven back with heavy loss. The Germans then occupied Lutzen. The latter were driven back with heavy loss. The Germans then occupied Lutzen.

THE SIEGE OF PARIS.

New York, Nov. 24.—The Tribune's Versailles correspondent, writing on the 21st, says: "The Germans have been unable to capture Paris by assault. They have been unable to capture Paris by assault. They have been unable to capture Paris by assault. They have been unable to capture Paris by assault.
